DESPERTARSE

Despiértense, por favor.
Wake up guys, please.

Todavía no me voy a despertar.
I'm not going to wake up just yet.

Siempre nos hemos despertado muy temprano.
We have always woken up very early.

You can use the non-reflexive form, despertar to express that someone is waking another person up. In this case, you must remove the reflexive pronoun from the conjugation:

Tim, despierta a tu hermana.
Tim, wake your sister up.

¿Quién despertó al bebé?
Who woke the baby up?

Take Note: With this meaning, you can use a Spanish direct object pronoun to replace the person that you or someone else wakes up – yo la desperté (I woke her up).
