DEFINITIONS & EXAMPLES

IR

#1 - Talking about going to or attending a place

(To go)

Formula

[Ir conjugated] + [complement]

Ayer fui al cine con mis amigas.
Yesterday, I went to the movies with my friends.

Iremos a una conferencia en Madrid.
We will attend a lecture in Madrid.

Take Note: When talking about going somewhere, the verb 'ir' works with a + article (un, el, and their variations). Remember that with masculine nouns, you'll need to use the contraction al.

#2 - Talking about leaving a place (reflexive form)

(To go / To leave)

Formula

[Reflexive pronoun] + [ir conjugated]

¿Por qué te vas tan temprano?
Why are you going so early?

Mis amigos no quieren que me vaya.
My friends don't want me to leave.

Take Note: Irse is the reflexive form of 'ir'. It follows the same conjugation pattern with the only difference that you must use Spanish reflexive pronouns. Although it can also mean 'to go', most of the time, irse is translated as 'to leave'. Here you can check other verbs that change meaning in their reflexive form.
